

To whom it may concern;

We had our roof repaired twice, at considerable cost, by a reputable roofing company only to have the roof again leak and cause damage to the ceiling. The company that did the work said the repair work was not guaranteed. Instead of continuing to have repairs made, we decided to have a new roof installed.

We interviewed three firms discussing the scope of work, schedule and probable cost. We chose to contract with Florida State Roofing based on their knowledge of roof construction, competitive cost and schedule to start the work (next day). Project coordinator Simon Mavrak had inspected the attic area and showed me several areas where the roof was leaking, areas of where the plywood sheathing must be replaced, and where the previous repair work was not done correctly. None of the other firms took the time to do an inspection prior to submitting a bid.

Simon kept in contact with us frequently throughout the construction and responded to all our questions and needs in a very professional and timely manner.

We recommend Florida State Roofing to those looking to replace their roof.

P.S. My wife opened the windows every day to listen to the guys on the roof singing as they worked. Great bunch of people.

Thank You,

Richard and Donna Wakefield
